

eCaseLink 8.2™ IWRS

Simplify Randomization, Subject Enrollment and Drug Supply Management with Interactive Web Response Services from DSG

Randomizing, enrolling study subjects and managing drug supply, is crucial to the success of clinical trials, regardless of phase. In today's Internet-savvy world, Interactive Web Response Services (IWRS) are quickly replacing outmoded and time consuming voice response systems.

Gain control of your supply management

DSG's award winning IWRS is a seamlessly integrated component of eCaseLink that helps you to easily manage randomization, subject enrollment and drug supply management in any clinical trial.

eCaseLink's IWRS automated randomization systems use the latest statistical methods, programming and validation procedures. This ensures quick, accurate balanced and valid subject assignments. eCaseLink's IWRS functionality completely manages supply chain from shipment, to re-supply, to ensuring proper kit numbers and, the monitoring of defective supply.

eCaseLink's IWRS increases efficiency and productivity with lower error rates, and eliminates the need for costly and inefficient IVR systems. eCaseLink's IWRS delivers savings of over $100,000 per study, on average.

- Award Winning Technology recognized by the SCDM
- IWRS seamlessly integrated within eCaseLink
- Patient randomization using web-based EDC system
- Customizable for any clinical trial
- Increase efficiency and productivity with lower error rates
- Dramatic reduction in development cycles compared to IVRS
- Integration of complex randomization schemes, drug accountability, drug supply management, and supply chain forecasting
